Dear Mr. Friedrich,

I trust that our business meeting last week was a success, and I enjoyed meeting you and the members of your firm. Based on the needs you discussed, I have put together a general proposal, which I'm sure you will find not only addresses your company needs, but delivers extra measures of security and more practical advantages than we previously discussed.

I am confident that our company, SkyLine Property Management, can supply Evergreen with essential services that will allow you to focus on expanding. Our extensive experience in preventive maintenance and our ability to oversee third party security contracting gives us the capacity to implement our plan quickly and effectively, which in turn allows you to move forward with your other endeavors and saves you money. We also understand that your leasees work almost entirely in the software/computer tech industry and need extra measures of security. Our goal is to make sure you and your leasees never have delays, legal problems, or setbacks resulting from a security or maintenance issue.

I look forward to working with you and welcome the chance to talk with you further.

Sincerely,

Evan Goodwin
