Whereas Customer desires to engage Developer, and Developer desires to be engaged by Customer, to provide Internet services on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth below.

Now, therefore, the Parties hereby agree as follows.

2.1 Specifications and Customer Content.

Developer, in consultation with Customer, shall prepare detailed written specifications for the Web Site (the "Specifications"). The Specifications shall consist of, among other things, a design for the Web Site, a flow-chart of the pages for the Web Site, programming and interactive feature requirements, and the placement of any content or other materials which are to be incorporated into the Web Site. The Specifications shall be subject to any restrictions or limitations set forth in Schedule B or Schedule E. The Specifications which have been mutually agreed upon by the Parties in writing shall be attached hereto as Schedule B and Schedule E. If the Parties are unable to agree in writing to mutually acceptable Specifications, after using good faith efforts, on or before days after the Commencement Date, either party may terminate this Agreement by providing written notice to the other party. Such termination shall not relieve Customer from the obligation of paying Developer for all fees due and owing Developer as of the date of such termination.

2.2 Delivery of Customer Content.

"Customer Content" shall mean any materials provided by Customer for incorporation in the Web Site, including, but not limited to, any images, photographs, illustrations, graphics, audio clips, video clips or text. Customer shall deliver the Customer Content to Developer in an electronic file format specified and accessible by Developer (e.g., txt, gif) or as otherwise specified in the Specifications. Any services required to convert or input Customer Content not set forth in the Specifications shall be charged as Additional Services. Customer shall promptly deliver all Customer Content to Developer as required by Developer.

2.3 Initial Version.

Upon Specifications being mutually agreed, and upon Developer's receipt of the Customer Content and any fees called for in Schedule A hereto, Developer shall commence tasks associated with the development of the initial version of the Web Site ("Initial Version") and notify the Customer of Customer shall have <<Days>> days, or such time as otherwise agreed by the Parties in writing, from the date of a written notice of completion of the Initial Version from Developer to review and request in writing from Developer revisions to the Initial Version. Upon receipt of such requests, Developer shall use commercially reasonable efforts to implement such revision requests that are within the scope of, and consistent with, the Specifications. If Customer wishes to implement any revisions to the Web Site that deviate in any material respect from the Specifications, Customer shall submit to Developer a written change order containing (i) such revisions in detail and (ii) a request for a price quote for each change (collectively, the "Change Order). Developer shall promptly evaluate the Change Order and submit to Customer for its written acceptance a proposal for undertaking the applicable tasks and a price quote reflecting all associated fees associated with Customer's Change Order. Customer shall have <<Days>> business days from receipt of such proposal to accept or reject Developer's proposal in writing. If Customer accepts Developer's proposal to undertake the work necessitated by the Change Order, then the Change Order, as supplemented and/or modified by Developer's proposal, shall amend and become a part of the Specifications in Schedule B and Schedule E as appropriate and Schedule A hereto (Fee and Payment Schedule), and Developer shall proceed to implement such revisions in accordance with the Specifications and Schedule B and Schedule E as so modified. If (i) Customer has not made any requests for revisions by the end of <<Days>> days from the date of written notice of completion of the Initial Version from Developer, or by such time as otherwise agreed by the Parties in writing, or (ii) upon completion of implementation of such requests which were mutually agreed upon by the Parties under the revised Specifications, the Web Site shall be deemed accepted by Customer ("Acceptance").

3. Proprietary Rights.

3.1 Proprietary Rights of Customer.

As between Customer and Developer, Customer Content shall remain the sole and exclusive property of Customer, including, without limitation, all copyrights, trademarks, patents, trade secrets, and any other proprietary rights. Nothing in this Agreement shall be construed to grant Developer any ownership right in, or license to, the Customer Content, except as provided in Section 3.2 of this Agreement.

3.2 Proprietary Rights of Developer.

Subject to Customer's ownership interest in Customer Content, all materials, including, but not limited, to any computer software (in object code and source code form), script, programming code, data, information or HTML script developed or provided by Developer or its suppliers under this Agreement (with the exception of original elements of audio-visual displays created hereunder specifically for Customer, which shall be deemed to be part of Customer Content), and any trade secrets, know-how, methodologies and processes related to Developer's products or services, shall remain the sole and exclusive property of Developer or
